

Business Tax Services

Did you know...?

Not all CPA firms have the knowledge to handle all types of tax returns.

Because of the nature of their operation, a business needed to file not only a Federal tax return, but also State returns for 12 different states. Their existing CPA didn't have the expertise to accurately prepare their returns, so the CPA firm brought us in to not only prepare the returns, but also to help the growing business with tax planning for the coming year.

Is tax preparation and planning a priority in your business?

If you aren't proactively addressing tax planning, you may want to rethink your strategy – actually, your lack of strategy. After all, doesn't your business change all the time?

With shifts in tax laws, the economy, and of course, your business, a fresh look at your accounting practices and tax preparation should be a yearly – or more frequent – occurrence.

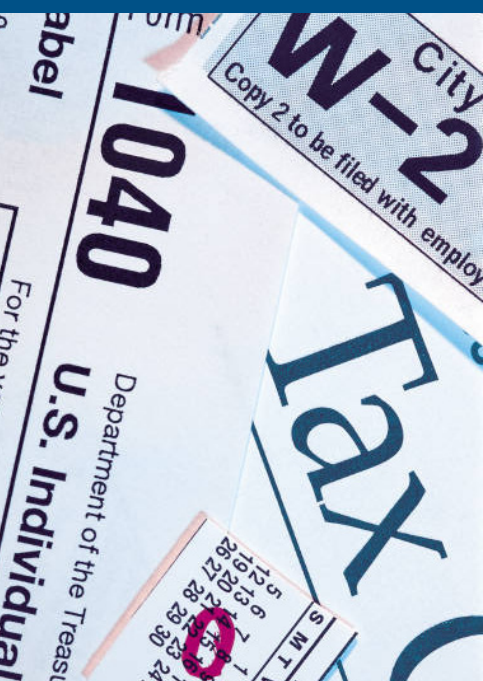

How can Holland & Company help?

Not only do we offer tax preparation and planning services for small- to medium-sized businesses and owners, we continually search for new and better ways to help our clients.

For instance, as your business grows and changes, should you hire additional staff? Or does it make more sense to outsource accounting functions? We're here to help you determine which is most cost effective for your particular situation.
